Bond Issue Fails, But . . .

The Beat Goes On

EHS students and faculty began the 1994-95 school year anticipating that this might be one of the last years in the 1915 high school building as voters were to go to the polls in October to decide on a bond issue to build a new high school.

However, it was not to be so, at least not this year. The bond issue received only 57 percent yes votes instead of the 60 percent necessary for passing.

Failure of the bond issue may have been disappointing, but it did not stop the educational process at EHS. This annual presents EHS as it really is. Although some were discouraged that students must continue attending this ancient fortress, daily life went on.

Teachers still told students not to sit in the hall, so they still went to classrooms before school. Sports events were still well attended, and students still wondered exactly what was in the pizza hotdish. Seniors still did a persuasion essay, science labs were limited by space and materials, and underclassmen still got scoffed at. Life at EHS hasn't changed much, for The Beat Goes On.

No, EHS did not adopt new school uniforms this year. Bob Hagen poses in his mother's nightgown and a flannel shirt on "Flannel Day" during Homecoming Week.

Damian Lampl appears to be upset at having his serious studying interrupted.

Greg Geiszler, Joy Fledderjohann (standing), Val Brandenburger, and Nick Lonski do some last-minute, before-school studying and visiting in the library.

Coping with overcrowded science labs is a common occurrence at EHS as David Haase, Luke Metcalf, Lindsey Veland, and Christy Kronberg take to the hall to complete a lab for Physical Science. Pam Wall (not pictured) was also a member of the group.

The Bird Arrives

EHS students and faculty were introduced to a new Cardinal mascot during the homecoming pep rally in October.

The mascot was a gift to EHS as a memorial to Heidi Knoll, a 1994 senior killed in a car accident just days before graduating from EHS.

Heidi transferred to EHS from California her senior year and brought with her a new spirit which she passed on to EHS. The mascot is a fitting reminder to students to display that spirit at EHS sporting events at which it appears.

The camera catches Josh Beringer off guard during Physics.

Class of 1995

The seniors were asked what the most important things they had learned from being in school for thirteen years were. Here are a few of their responses. "I learned how to work with others and not for others."

"I learned to be myself and develop my own unique individual personality."

"Quality is better than quantity, especially concerning friends."

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

"I have learned to be independent and to like and accept myself for who I am."

"A little responsibility will carry one a long way."

What will the seniors miss the most next year?

Another Year

This year was just another year for the sophomores. "Easy Turbo" was the all-around favorite saying for the class.

The sophomore class is a class in which each member is original. Each has their own different ideas. For this reason it was a bit difficult to compile the results of a survey because few people had the same ideas. However, one thing that the majority of the class felt strongly about was that we need a new high school.

One piece of advice that this year's sophomore class wants to give to next year's sophomore class is to have fun and enjoy it.

Beginning Again

The freshman class has to start all over again. When they began junior high, a big change occurred because of the difference from elementary school. Then they started high school and got to choose more of their courses they wanted to take. In addition, all of their grades began to go on their permanent GPA.

Freshmen are definitely underclassmen, but that, like all stages of life doesn't last long.

Anna Prettyman claims that her best memory of the ninth grade is having fun with friends.

"Chris Hagen is the most ambitious person because he's always doing something," said Becky Glynn.

To the Eighth Grade class, sports is their favorite thing about EHS.

In one word, the eighth graders described their class as “Cool.”

Majority of the eighth graders would like to see a new school and gym.

Seventh Heaven

The Seventh graders made a huge change from elementary school to junior high. They now have harder classes, which get harder the older you get, no more recesses in the morning at noon and in the afternoon, but they now have more freedom. They still have a lot of good and bad experiences to deal with, but along with these there will be tons of memories to be kept.

Homecoming

Ulmer, Schock Crowned Royalty

This year's Senior Homecoming candidates were Roxane Shock and Josh Beringer. The Junior class candidates were Tosha Kronberg and Joe Ulmer. Sophomore candidates were Valerie Brandenburger and Kardell Blumhardt. The Freshman candidates were Sadie Glynn and Adam Tvedt. The Eighth grade candidates were Tina Deitemeyer and Bob Hagen. The 1994 King was crowned as Joe Ulmer and Queen Roxane Schock.

One of the most memorable portions of homecoming week are the dress-up days. The student council makes the difficult decision of what themes to choose for the first three days of the week, and the students demonstrate their Cardinal spirit by dressing accordingly.

The halls of EHS filled up with temporary transvestites on Monday which was opposite-sex day. Girls were amazed at how feminine some of the boys actually are, but the guys considered it unfair that the girls could just slap on a baseball cap, and Nikes and call themselves "dressed up."

Tuesday was flannel day. It was an easy dress-up day, and the whole school looked as if Scotland had taken over. It was not difficult to show school spirit on that day.

Wednesday won the award for the funniest day. Everything that could call itself weird showed up in the halls. Witches, nerds, hippies, and the Madonna look with the underwear over the clothes was observed. Some people dyed their hair, and others wore clothes that completely didn't match.

Thursday was dress-up day and everyone looked especially nice in their dress clothes. The school looked like it was ready for a wedding.

Friday was the day of red-and-black. This was the best day to show your school spirit. It was also the day of the pep rally and the Homecoming football game. Everyone showed great school spirit and everyone was very psyched for the game that night.

Spirit days were a roaring success this year. Dressing weird and silly is fun, but some people prefer the norm.

Grand Finale!

On May 21, 1995, the Senior class of EHS met for the final time for their commencement ceremony. The Sunday afternoon was warm and sunny as the 25 Seniors made their way from the school building to the gym.

Valedictorian Josh Beringer, Salutatorian Valerie Brandenburger, Honor Student Tosha Kronberg, and Adam Tvedt were the student speakers. The Senior girls' ensemble sang "I'll Remember," and the Senior mixed ensemble sang "Love Theme from St. Elmo's Fire." Joy Fledderjohann sang "Oh How the Years Go By."

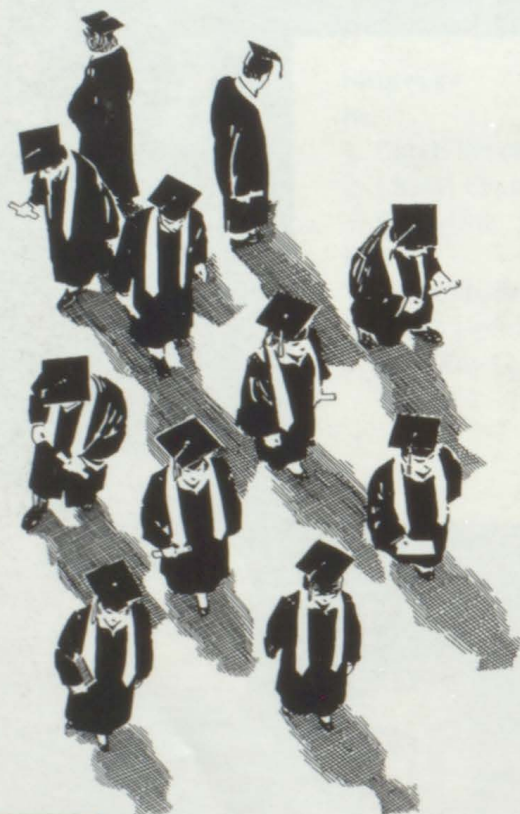

Graduation was a wonderful memory in every way.

Diversified Occupations Class Provides Work Experience

Mrs. Hehr takes a second to look at her wonderful hard-working class.

Diversified Occupations seem to teach the students responsibility, how to manage their money and what the atmosphere is like in the work place. For instance Val Brandenburger got to see how a lawyer works by working at the Blumer Law Office. Greg Geiszler, "learned as much about people as about parts," by working for NAPA. Chad Elhard says, "it was a learning experience."

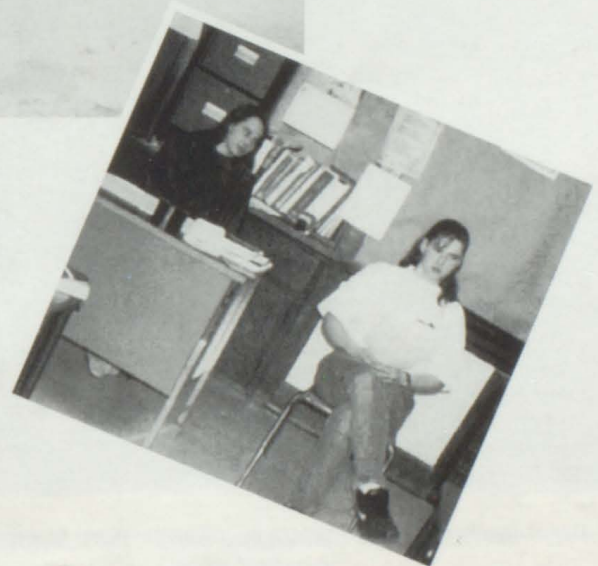

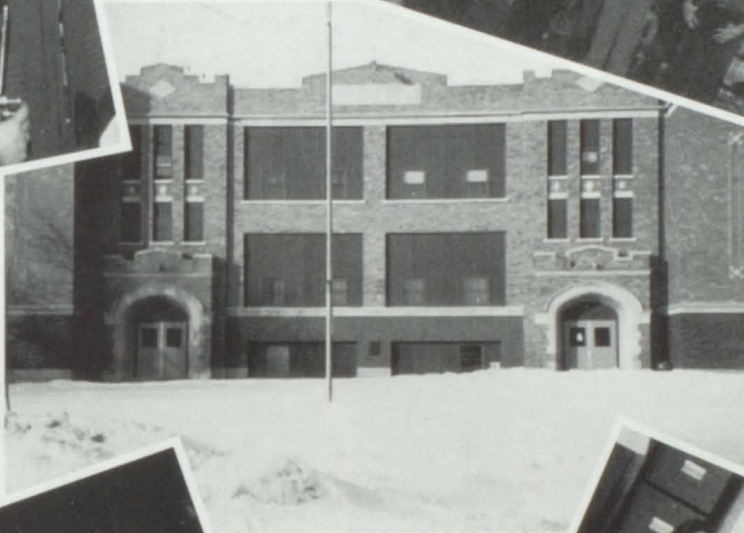

Although most of the students said it was hard work and was hard for them to save their money, they enjoyed working with others. Work taught Joe Veland responsibility and how to be punctual. Shelly Rall learned about computers and how to work with others.

For the most part the students gained work ethic that will benefit them in the future. This gave the students a jump start to what the working world is really like.

Students Experience Government in Action

Kelli takes a nap after a long week in Washington D.C.

Seven juniors attended Close-Up this year; they were Mike Thorpe, Nathan Sand, Steve Kaiser, Bob Bechtold, Brent Grueneich, Kelli Merkel, and Jami Mock. We all had fun touring Washington D.C. and looking at monuments. Most of us did not mind the workshops and seminars, but we had fun even though they were boring. We all would like to recommend going if you have the chance.

The Junior and Senior class also went to see the State Legislature. They sat in on the Senate and House and listened to many arguments on certain topics like gun control and welfare. They also got a tour of the capitol and the heritage museum. It was a learning experience that we would never give up.

If you think about it, our school has its own government. The student council. This group of people organize many activities in our school. They work on the Homecoming week and all the dress-up days. They sponsor the Snowball Dance and the Heart-to-Heart surveys. They also help the school in decisions like assemblies. The student council is like a voice of the students.

Close-Up: Jami Mock, Kelli Merkel, Brent Grueneich, Mike Thorpe, Mr. Ulmer, Nathan Sand, Bob Bechtold, Steve Kaiser.

Mike and Nathan are on the move as they leave Lincoln Memorial.

Students Compete in Academic Competitions

Throughout the school year, students compete in many different competitions. Some of these competitions are Academic Olympics, Business Skills, and NSU Math Competition. The students that attended Academic Olympics in Wishek in the junior high division are Alicia Glynn, Sarah Maier, Lori Brokaw, Christy Kronberg, and Crystal Bobbe. The students who competed in the high school division are Josh Beringer, Valerie Brandenburger, Tosha Kronberg, Kerry Mahler, and David Maier. It's a good experience for those who are chosen to represent our school.

Another competition some students competed in was Business and Office Skills held on NSU campus. There were ten students who participated in it. The students are Shelly Rall who took first place in accounting and earned a trophy and a $200 scholarship to attend NSU, Sadie Glynn who placed eighth in accounting, David Roush who placed fifth and Kevin Peters who placed fifteenth in business law, Christy Kronberg who placed fifth and Josh Beringer who placed twelfth in general business, Alicia Petersen who placed eleventh in computer principles, and Amy Maly who placed twelfth and Sarah Maier who placed sixteenth in keyboarding.

The last competition students participated in was NSU Math Competition. There was quite a number of students that participated in this competition. The students were Josh Beringer, Jessica Hafey, Valerie Brandenburger, Damian Lampl, Justin LeMatta, David Maier, Kerry Mahler, Evan LaMont, Julie Brandenburger, Leigh Urbaniak, Nathan Heinrich, Mary Biggs, Chris LaMont, Alicia Glynn, Sarah Maier, Crystal Bobbe, and Ross Arthur. They all competed in different levels of math. Alicia Glynn competed in elementary algebra, and was the only student from North Dakota to receive an award. She received an honorable mention in her division.

Students can also participate in many different organizations throughout the year. Some of these organizations are JETS, National Honor Society, and Boys' and Girls' State. JETS is a program where any senior student can help as an aide in the elementary school. This year there were four senior girls. They were Tosha Kronberg, Tina Deitmeyer, Joy Fledderjohann, and Sadie Glynn.

This year there were six students inducted into the National Honor Society. The members are chosen by high standard of Leadership, Scholarship, Character, and Service. They have to maintain these standards throughout their high school years.

There are four girls going to Girls' State which is held June 3-9, 1995, in Grand Forks on UND campus. The girls are Amy Beckius, Alicia Petersen, Nicole Brown, and Jami Mock. There are also four boys going to Boys' State. They are Nathan Sand, Jim Glynn, Nick Lonski, and Justin LeMatta. Boys' State is held June 11-17, 1995, in Fargo on NDSU campus.

Joint Efforts Provide Fun

Casper and FHA sponsored many events and have many fundraisers. One fundraiser that everyone looks forward to is the Casper Carnival. This year the Casper and FHA groups had a total of about six booths. Everyone always enjoys the events sponsored by both groups. This year Casper has had dances, fan buses, a bowling/pizza party, a concert about drugs and fighting them, and a lock-in at the Aberdeen YMCA. FHA has had dances, carnation sales around Valentine's Day and booths at the Health Fair.

Yearbook Mania

Imagine knowing practically nothing about publishing a book, and then having to publish one. Not only does that sound tough, it is. Every year the Ellendale High School yearbook staff has to do exactly that. This year, our staff had only two students who had experienced journalism before.

Writing the yearbook is hard because yearbook staff wants the school to be happy with the book. People are difficult to please, and different people want different things. Although we realize that there may be flaws in our work, we thank you for purchasing a yearbook and hope you enjoy it. Some new suggestions were taken for this year's book, and some old ideas were thrown out. Our staff will gladly welcome anyone new into it next year.

This year the drama club grew. The club composed of Senior, Freshman, and Junior High girls performed a one-act play called "How to Get Rid of a Housemother." It was a comedy about a sorority that was getting a new housemother. She ended up being a major and was planning to change everything. With carefull planning, Billie Joe (Val) and Ellen (Liebe) with the help of Nancy (Amy) scare the major into leaving. Joy, who did an excellent job playing a ditsy secretary, won the best actress award when they competed. Anna who played the proper Suzan got an honorable mention for her character. All in all the play was a great success. After the competition, the girls performed it for the town.

Keeping the Beat

The Ellendale High School Band plays music at its best. Even if the groups are small they make up for it by sounding great.

This year the band got a new instructor and the band had fun doing many different activities. The first big thing they got ready for was the parade in Valley City. This was held very close to the beginning of the year so they had to work especially hard. After this was over they started right in on pep band. The pep band played throughout the year to cheer on the many sports teams and fans.

In December the Christmas Concert was held and the band had a lot of Christmas spirit. They sounded great. After this they began working for KELOE. This year it was held in Kulm and it sounded very good.

For small groups the percussion, some trumpets, flutes, and a sax quartet all starred and went to state on May 6. Everyone did very well there.

At the end of May they held a Senior High and a Junior High Pops Concert. They were both put together very nicely and were a lot of fun. The band along with smaller groups had fun playing songs from the past as well as newer ones. Both concerts sounded great and it was a wonderful way to end the year. The Ellendale High School band gets better every year.

Music in the Air

Singing Up a Storm

Mrs. LaBahn (earlier known as Miss Miller) joined the faculty of EHS this year to teach chorus and band. Under her leadership, the music program has improved and grown. This year, choir participated in KELOE, received two honorable mentions in large group contest, and performed in the Christmas and the spring concert.

Swing choir this year was quite different from previous years. Members of the choir auditioned for swing choir by singing and dancing. The Pops concert this year, Swingin' the 90's, was an outstanding success. The swing choir not only sang, but for the first time they danced.

The vocal competitors in regional and state music contest also did very well. In state, Mike Maroney starred on his vocal solo, as did the girls in the large ensembles, "Psalms 67" and "Cherubim." Thanks to our new music teacher, the music program at EHS is finally reaching its potential.

How do you like the cafeteria food? "It is ok. Some of it I don't like, like the potatoes because I am used to rice."

What do you think of people here? "They are nice to me. When I go anywhere, everybody says Hi to me."

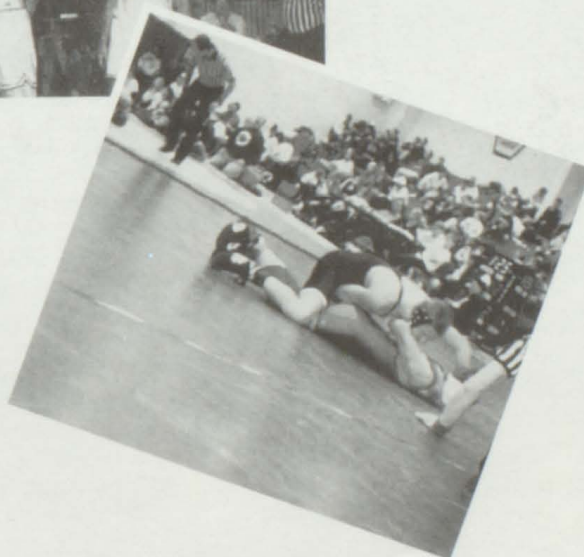

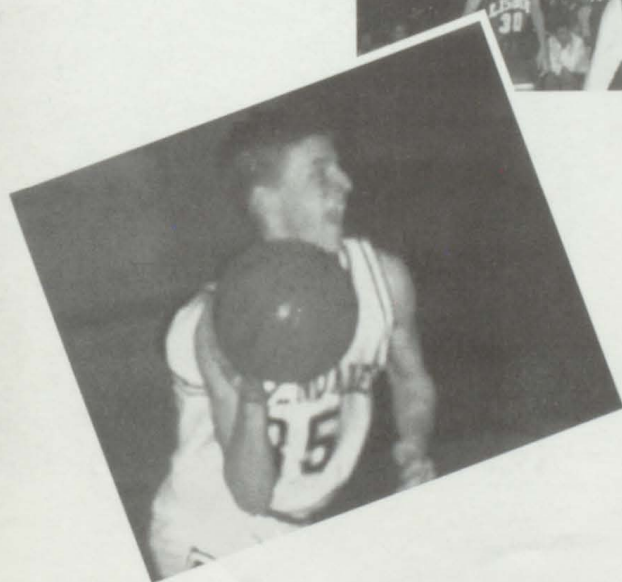

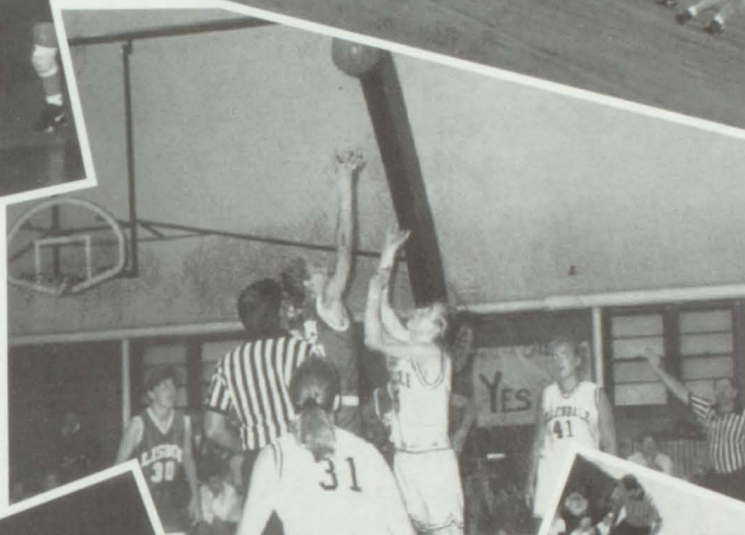

What do you think of the American girls? "They are bigger than the girls in Thailand."

What do you think of the weather here? "In ND it is too cold for me. It is my first time to see snow."

Mr. Graff presents Hot with his certificate for being an exchange student at EHS.

Cardinals Score Big Homecoming Victory

The Varsity team had a great year. They played hard and worked hard to go to the play-offs but even with their hard work, they just couldn't do it. They played nine games. But even with a losing season they had good spirits and worked hard all year. The most important game to the team and school was the game against Steele-Dawson, the homecoming game. They defeated the Pirates 38-0. The game the team wants back is the game against Linton in which they lost 22-20 in the fourth quarter.

Jr. High Posts 3-2 Record

The junior high had a very good season this year. Their record was three wins and two losses. The LaMoure Lobos were a tough team giving the Ellendale Cardinals the two losses. The junior high schedule was a game short because Ashley did not field a team and canceled out. Cardinals also won two games against Edgeley. They had a great year and hope to continue it next year.

Record-Breaking Season

Although they didn't take a trip to state, this year in girls' basketball was definitely a record breaking season. The girls were undefeated at home and finished with a 19-6 record overall. This included a second place finish at districts, third at regionals, and SEC co-champs. They also had the biggest win against Fredrick with a point spread of 62 points. This is the best record for girls' basketball at Ellendale. This was overall a great season, even though the girls didn't reach their goal. There were a lot of individual records broken also. The team played well together and it showed. The scoring was well balanced and everyone always showed up to work hard. The fans and parents were great this year and it really helped a lot. The B squad had a really good season. They improved a lot from the year before to end up with a 10-6 record.

Bob Hagen puts it up in a crowd.

The 94-95 season was characterized for the team by a lot of new faces. A new coach was added, which is always difficult for a team to adjust to. But as for the team itself, the lack of returning starters brought about some new faces to the starting line-up.

The team was very young and inexperienced going into the season, and since they really hadn't played together before, it was tough to get a consistency going.

One of the highlights of the season was for the varsity team to advance to the Regional tournament.

"It was one of our goals early in the year and was a great way to end the season. We would have liked to play more but with a good nucleus returning next year we will have the experience we need to give us a successful season." That was Coach Skunberg's reply when he was asked about the season. The team ended with a 10-14 record. Coach Skunberg would like to thank the seniors for a great year.

Junior High Girls Call the Shots

The junior high girls' basketball season began with eleven veteran eighth graders and nine new seventh graders under the direction of a new coach, Miss Miller.

The seventh graders weren't used to having practice every night after school but they soon settled into a routine. The girls said it was a lot harder than elementary basketball. They seem ready for another year.

The eighth graders are ready to go on they feel. They feel they have accomplished what they wanted in junior high. When asked what the best moment of the season was, Wendy Mueller said, "We beat Oakes." The rest of the team unanimously agreed.

Erica Young said they went into the locker room and screamed for about five minutes. A crowning moment for the eighth graders because Oakes was the team to beat this season. In all, it was good sportsmanship, dedication, and good attitudes that helped them reach for new goals.

The Junior High Boys' basketball team ended the season with an overall record of 16-9. The eighth grade team missed compiling a perfect record by a three-point shot scored by Napoleon in the final seconds of the tournament at Wishek. They also did well in several post-season tournaments, bringing home a first place trophy from Jamestown and a second place trophy from Bismarck.

The team prided itself on its teamwork and good defensive play. Before each game, the team set a goal for opponent's points and worked hard on defense to attain that goal.

Even though the seventh grade did not compile as good a record, they had an exciting start to their season defeating Oakes at Oakes by a score of 23-19. They also participated in post-season tournaments to gain experience for next season.

Whirlwind

r e s t l i n g

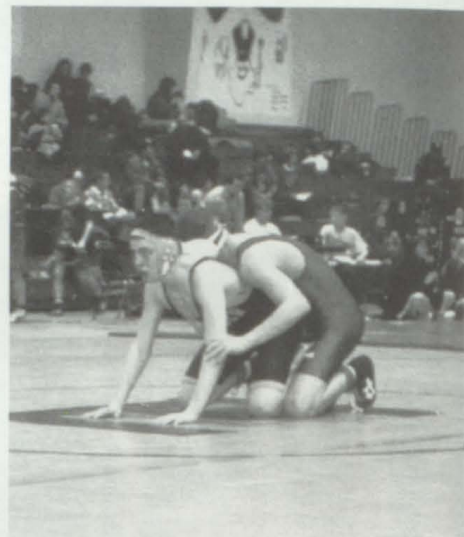

The wrestlers of 1994-1995 did well. They didn't win all their games but they kept hope and they never gave up.

"This year's wrestling team was very young. We had only four seniors: Joe Ulmer, Joe Veland, Nathan Kupfer, and Kelly Fischer," said Coach Ulmer. With all the experience that the seniors had under their belts, they will be missed.

"Valuable experiences were gained by the younger wrestlers this year, but unfortunately the year was dampened by nagging injuries which kept some of the more experienced wrestlers out of the line-up."

The disappointments have been many, however, most of them have to do with the numerous injuries. Maybe next year will hold something better for the Thunder wrestlers.

Jason Miller tensely waits for the referee's whistle to begin his match.

Successful Season in Volleyball

Cardinal Volleyball reached for the top and achieved the best season in the history of volleyball at Ellendale. The team took third in Conference, second in sub-region, and third in region 1. Led by senior captains Tina Deitemeyer, Jessica Hafey, Roxane Schock, Donnah

Hoffman, and Shelly Rall and juniors Sarah Walsh, Kerry Mahler, and Laura Dallman, the Cards put their experience to work losing only twice at home and ending the season 16-8 overall. For the first time ever the Cardinals advanced to the final four Region 1 tournament and beat North Sargent for third place.

Some of the season's highlights include beating Oakes for third place in the conference, crushing Gackle/Streeter and Linton in the play-ins, and hanging on to beat North Sargent for third in the regional tournament.

The junior varsity team which included a few sophomores but was primarily made up of freshmen showed improvements throughout the year. Coach Gina Godding led her team to a 7-6 record. The future looks bright for volleyball at EHS!

Makin' Tracks

The EHS track season got off to a slow start in the middle of March. This was because the weather made track start almost a week later than planned. Even after it started, there were many indoor practices because of the frequent storms. Everybody bundled up to go outside and run and then it was treacherous because of the ice. But those who stayed on showed true dedication.

Mr. Skunberg took share of the many 7th and 8th graders which took up a large part of the track team including the suprise of the season, 8th grader Jason Miller who ran the two mile indoor in Wahpeton for the first time and won it. He got the Most Improved award and also Athlete of the Month. Many other 7th and 8th graders showed promise including 8th grader Mary Deitemeyer who took places in shot put in varsity meets.

All that hard work paid off when it came time for regionals at Jamestown. The state qualifiers were both the boys' and girls' 1600m relay, the boys and girls 3200m relay, Jason Miller qualified in the 3200m run, Kerry Mahler qualified in both the 100 and 300m hurdles, Sarah Walsh and Bob Bechtold qualified in the 400m high jump, and Roxane Shock qualified in the 400m run.

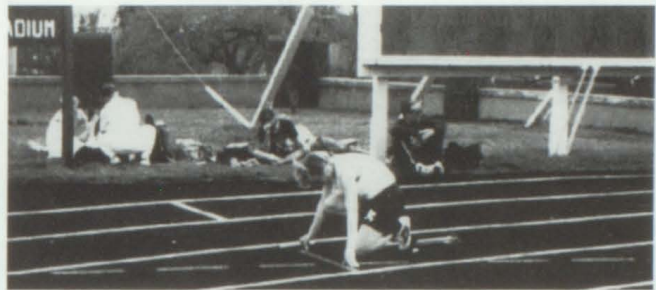

They never would have said they appreciated Mr. Hack's yelling at the beginning of the season with the sore muscles and running in bad weather but in the end they could say that all that hard work really DID pay off.

11 Golfers Tee Off a New Year

The 1995 golf season was shortened because of the strange weather. Snow in Mid-April forced the golfers to cancel at least one meet and made it hard for them to practice. With a shorter season, the golfers had to practice and play hard and make every meet count to try and make up for lost time. Even with several returning varsity letterers this was easier said than done. In the first meet, they had a hard time getting better than eleven out of fourteen. This was due partly because of playing many larger schools. The players tried to get the season off to a good start, but things did not quite work out the way they had expected. Still as the year went on, the golfers improved and got better throughout the season.

Cheerleaders Spark Spirit at EHS

Cheerleaders are a big part of EHS. They are used in almost every sport and play a big part in motivating the crowd. This year Maurice, the mascot, also played a big role in cheerleading. You could always see him doing something crazy.

The cheerleaders conducted a "Name the Mascot" contest in the fall of the year. Donnah Hoffman's entry of Maurice was chosen. Mike Maroney was the face behind the mask of Maurice.

There is a lot to be said about the cheerleader's spirit and it really showed in this year's activities. The cheerleaders took the time to make posters, to help with parent's night and to put on pep rallies.

Maurice's antics often included intimidating the referees during time-outs.

NDADD State B Champions

The Cardettes began the season with four new freshmen, two sophomores, five juniors, and one senior.

Under the leadership of senior captain, Tosha Kronberg and junior captain, Alicia Petersen, the Cardettes attended state competition January 28, 1995. They entered in the pom and dance categories for the first time. The competition was hard, but the Cardettes came out with first place in both categories. They also tied with the Killdeer Klassics for overall champions.

All but three of the Cardettes attended UDA camp in Grand Forks over the summer. There they attended classes that improved and perfected their skills.

The Cardettes got a jump start on things and were able to perform their dance routine on December 10, 1994. This is the earliest they have ever performed in the season. They went on from there and learned their pom routine which they performed on the 21st of January.

The Cardettes performed at the Boys' District and Regional basketball tournaments. They also performed their prom routine on March 19, at the boys' state basketball championship game in Minot. It was broadcast on NBC channel 11.

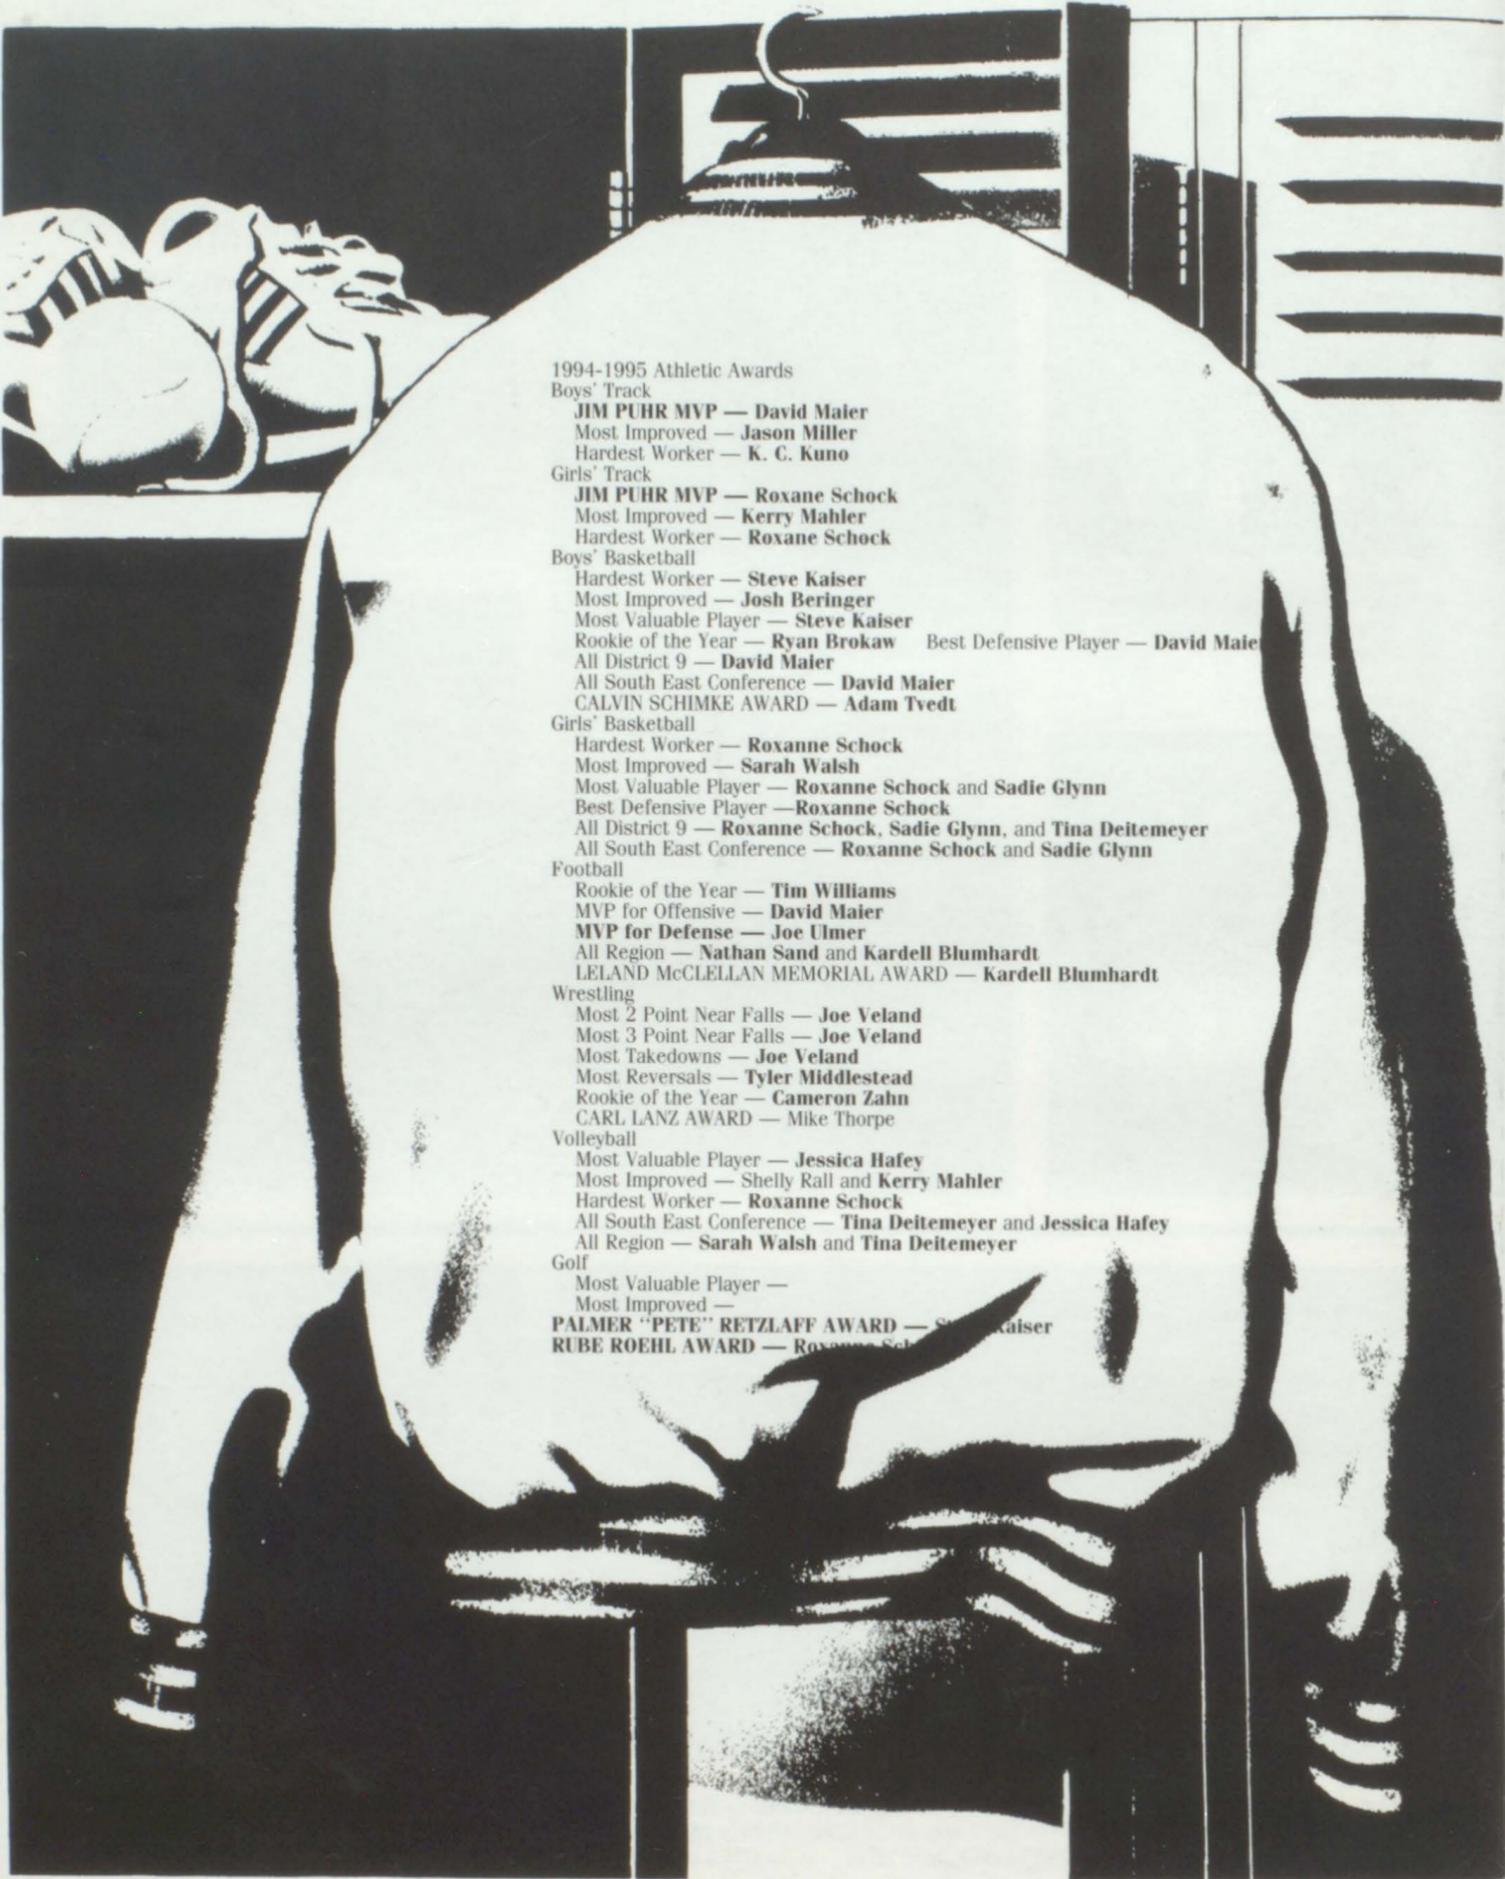

The Ellendale Cardettes would like to wish Tosha farewell and good luck in the future.
